Jt seems to be a month for poetry. Two contributors have included poems in their articles (p25 & 27) and Marion left me some more to add when she went off on holiday.

Ford cars celebrate 150 years (p12) this month. I wonder how many of our readers have driven a Ford car?

But then of course it's not more macho now to be a good car mechanic - you have to know about computers! (p13). The 1st August is of course, Yorkshire Day and our article on p29 was written by David Kirby who always gets our attention when he relates Yorkshire stories in the pulpit. Also on p29 is a lovely photo of the Confirmation candidates and a note from them on p7.

Do hope you continue to enjoy the sunshine.

From the Vicarage

Dear Friends

A champion at last! Andy Murray winning the Wimbledon men's title for the first time in 77 years. It has taken years of dedication, hard work and not a little talent. He changed his trainer, the way he trained, and the shape of his body through training. And all to hold a golden cup, his name in the record books and of course the prize money of £1.6 million pounds.

What would you do for to win the prize? Of course our prize as Christians is different. It is variously described as:

'The prize of victory' 2 Timothy 4:8

'God's call through Christ Jesus to the life above.' Philippians 3:14

'I will give you life as your prize of victory.' Revelation 2:10

The prize for Christians is the gift of eternal life but our prize is also doing the will of our Father in heaven. And doing His will and not ours at times takes courage, always dedication, lots of hard work and the use of our talents. Sound familiar?

So who are the champion Christians today; those whose names will be written in the book of life? It will be those who:

'keep striving to win the prize for which Christ Jesus has already won me to himself.' Philippians 3

Of course Paul was never complacent about the race nor the outcome only, that he needed to keep carrying on.

Confirmations took place in our church recently and the Commission asks the candidates 'Will you continue in the apostle's teaching and fellowship, in the breaking of bread and in the prayers?' We changed the commission so that it was addressed to all the people present including your parish priest. The road is easy when we start out. Its when we have been Christians for some time, when the newness has worn off that it becomes easy to lose focus and forget to keep our faith alive through worship, prayer and doing the Father's will.

And our Father's will is to 'go to all peoples everywhere and make them my disciples' (Matthew 28:19).

As we approach the second half of the year and look towards the autumn please start praying now for our Alpha course. Firstly give thanks for all the people he has sent us so far, ask God to guide you to the people he wants you to ask on the course, offer to join it yourself with whoever you ask, pray for the helpers and chefs and all who will lead.

God Bless you as you carry on in the Christian faith

Janice

The Beheading of St John the Baptist

hen you go back to work after the August Bank Holiday this month, spare a thought for John the Baptist: however rough your local sandwich bar may be, it probably doesn't serve you locusts with a honey dip; you won't be imprisoned for saying derogatory things about the local MP's wife, and even the boss from hell is unlikely to have a daughter who wants to hip-hop about with your head on a platter.

John the Baptist, by our standards, had a terrible life. Yet the Bible tells us that of all the people in history, no one has even been born who was as great as him. Why? Because of the unique job God gave him to do, which has to be the best PR job of all time: act as God's press officer.

This was quite literally the PR job from heaven: with God as his client, John the Baptist's job was to broadcast the news that the Messiah had come. Not even Church House Westminster has ever attempted anything like that.

It always helps if PR people recognise their own clients, and the same was true of John: he was the first person to recognise Jesus as the Messiah. PR people also help their clients prepare for their public role, and John did the same for Jesus: he baptised him in the Jordan at the start of his ministry.

PR people also stand up in public for their client's point of view, and in John's case it led to his arrest and imprisonment. His death was finally brought about by the scheming of Herodias and Salome, and here the similarity ends: for not even Max Clifford has ever lost his head over a client.

Cleaning Poem

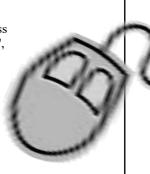

asked the Lord to tell me Why my house is such a mess He asked if I'd been 'computing', And I had to answer 'yes.'

He told me to get off my butt, And tidy up the house. And so I started cleaning up... The smudges off my mouse.

I wiped and shined the topside. That really did the trick... I was just admiring my good work. I didn't mean to 'click.'

But click, I did, and oops - I found A real absorbing site That I got SO way into it -I was into it all night.

So nothing's changed except my mouse. It's as shiny as the sun. I guess my house will stay a mess...... While I sit here on my bum.

Celebrating Lammas

he year is 1100. The date is August 1st. The monks in the abbey in Gloucester are celebrating the holy day of St Peter in Chains. One of the monks wakes from a strange dream in which God promises to strike down the wicked King who has abused the Holv church. His superior, Abbot Serio, on hearing of the dreams sends a warning to the King, William the Red, who has oppressed all England with taxes and disgusted many with his licentiousness and blasphemy. Red, as he is called, receives the message the following day while preparing to indulge in one of his favourite sports, hunting, in the New Forest. Although there are no longer people living in the forest they were cleared out by his father, William the Conqueror - there are rumours that it's a hotbed for pagan activity.

August 2 is an important pagan 'holy day'. The Saxons call it Lammas, the Loaf-Mass. William the Red laughs at the warning from the monks and goes out hunting. A short time later he is dead, struck by a stray arrow in the chest, and his brother, Henry, hot-foots it down to Winchester to claim the throne!

Some say that William the Red was a Lammas sacrifice and some say that his brother Henry assassinated him. And some say that both versions are true.

The Celts celebrate this festival from sunset August 1 until sunset August 2 and call it Lughnasad after the God Lugh. It is the wake of Lugh, the Sun-King, whose light begins to dwindle after the summer solstice. The Saxon holiday of Lammas celebrates the harvesting of the grain. The first sheaf of wheat is ceremonially reaped, threshed, milled and baked into a loaf. The grain dies so that the people might live. Eating this bread, the bread of the Gods, gives us life. If this all sounds vaguely Christian, it is. In the sacrament of Communion. Bread is blessed, becomes the body of God and is eaten to nourish the faithful. This Christian mystery echoes the pagan mystery of the Grain God.

Computers v Cars

Any colour, so long

David Winter considers the 150 years of

Who will women choose? Men who can fix a computer are now more desirable than men who can fix a car. Whereas women used to handy around the house, nowadays their admiration is for a man who can figure out what has gone wrong with their computer.

favour men who were

There's even a new name for these guys we once called 'computer nerds'. Now we call them 'technosexuals' – and they are challenging macho men for alpha-male status as society becomes increasingly dependent on technology.

Aware of this, many men exaggerate their computer skills. But women are wise to this, and four fifths of them say they never believe everything a man tells them he can do with a computer anyway. The survey was carried out by Crucial.com, a computer upgrade site. It concluded: "Heroes today are becoming more Mark Zuckerberg than Jeremy Clarkson."

y very first car was a Ford 8, the original 'people's motor car'.

When it was launched in the thirties it sold new for £100 - it cost me nearly as much to buy my 1938 model in 1953. It was, of course, black and despite its age it served me well, once a friend and I had fitted a new condenser.

I say it was 'of course' black, because Henry Ford, the founder of the Ford Motor Company - who was born 150 years ago this month - once answered a question about what colours his cars were available in with the terse reply, "Any colour you like, so long as it's black". He was the pioneer of mass motoring, a man who had a vision of ordinary people driving their own cars, which therefore had to be sold at hitherto unapproachably low prices. 'Pile 'em high and sell 'em cheap', as Mr Cohen of Tesco's once said. Needless to say, he succeeded. The modern love affair with the motor car really dates back to him and the company he founded in Detroit in 1903.

And we do love our cars. don't we? Men, on the whole, like them to look macho, shiny and reliable. Women - again, on the whole - like them to have an attractive colour, be comfortable and, again, reliable. No point in a fast or fancy car that won't start. In Britain, there is roughly one car for every household millions of them, as we sadly recognise when we get stuck in that horror of the modern age, a 'traffic jam'.

What was the unmet need that Mr Ford spotted when he launched his company? I suspect it was the degree of freedom that a car gives. No longer dependent on buses or trains, no longer dogged by distance - twenty miles to the nearest shop - the car owner feels free to roam at will.

as it's black

Ford cars....

Old people often find that the moment when they can no longer drive is the most difficult loss to accept, despite the very welcome free bus pass!

For the sake of that independence, we accept the risks that go with it: accidents, breakdowns, repair bills and the ever increasing cost of insurance. But we also embrace the benefits - not all of them selfish or self-indulgent. With a car we can visit friends, give people a lift to church or the surgery, explore the countryside and see wonderful sights. On his anniversary, we may well feel that on the whole Henry Ford was a benefactor of our race and give thanks for his strange vision of a world full of inexpensive four wheeled internally combustion driven vehicles, with people like you and me driving them (not always very well!).

David Winter

Heavenly virtues

On their way to get married, a young Roman Catholic couple was involved in a fatal car accident.

The couple found themselves sitting outside the Pearly Gates waiting for St. Peter to process them into Heaven. While anxiously waiting they began to wonder; could they possibly get married in Heaven?

When St. Peter arrived, they asked him if they could get married in Heaven.

St. Peter said, "I don't know. This is the first time anyone has asked. Let me go find out," and he left.

The couple sat and waited for an answer... for a couple of months.

While they waited, they discussed the pros and cons. If they were allowed to get married in Heaven, should they get married, what with the eternal aspect of it all?

work? Are we stuck in Heaven together forever?"

Yet another month passed before St. Peter finally returned, looking somewhat bedraggled. "Yes," he informed the couple, "You can get married in Heaven."

"Great!" said the couple. "But we were just wondering; what if things don't work out? Could we also get a divorce in Heaven?"

St. Peter, red-faced with anger, slammed his clipboard on the ground.

"What's wrong?" asked the frightened couple.

"OH, come ON!!" St. Peter shouted. "It took me three months to find a priest up here!

Do you have ANY idea how long it'll take to find a lawyer???"

Calling all Teenagers!

Martin Saunders, a youth ministry specialist, was asked to interview a selection of young people, to let them tell their own stories of how they have encountered Jesus Christ. TEEN meets GOD: Laura's story

I was baptised as a baby, and as I grew up, I went to church with my dad. I went to Sunday school, and I would say and do the right thing. It didn't mean anything though, because I didn't have that intimate relationship with God that other people seemed to have

In my early teens,
I was dragged along to a Christian event. It was a whole week long and I knew it was going to be such a bore. But I wanted my dad and church friends to be happy with me, so I said yes.

I stood at the back in the first meeting, feeling incredibly uncomfortable and out of place. The music started, and everyone started raising their hands in worship. I'd seen this before, but this time was different. I looked around at the faces of all these incredible young people passionate about Jesus, and I realised that I'd been living a religion instead of a relationship. A leader stopped the band mid-song and began to speak – saying that someone needed to know that God loved them so much, and wanted to come into a relationship with them tonight. I knew that was me!

Now I began to worship. I can't describe what I felt in that moment, but I was in the presence of God. I got down on my knees – I must have been there for about half an hour. With my face bowed to the floor, I began to pour out my heart to God. I asked him to forgive my sins and said I wanted to enter into a real relationship with him. As I left that meeting, I knew that Jesus had changed everything. I knew there was a God who loved me who I could pray to; that I could be honest with. From that moment onwards, I can honestly say I have never been the same. Just one touch of God's presence changed my life.

Laura is 18 and lives in Bradford. She is one of the contributors to a new book of stories, 'Jesus is Changing my Life', published by LIFE Church UK. To find out more about the Christian faith, visit www.lookingforgod.com

Thousands visit historic churches and cathedrals

t Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and Canterbury Cathedral are again among the top visitor attractions in the UK, according to the latest statistics from the Association of Leading Visitor Attractions (AVLA).

York Minster attracts more than 490,000 visitors annually, while Durham Cathedral welcomes 600,000 visitors each year and Bath Abbey alone would make the top 50 attractions, welcoming 420,000 visitors a year.

Cathedrals are at the forefront of worshipping churches that generate at least £350 million a year towards the tourism economy. The Association of English Cathedrals and English Heritage have estimated that visitors to cathedrals alone generate £91 million in spend and directly support 2,800 jobs

Approximately 11.3 million people - more than a quarter (27%) of England's adult population - say that they have been to a Church of England cathedral in the last 12 months, according to the Theos think-tank (Spiritual Capital, September 2012). These figures exclude visitors and tourists from overseas who visit Church buildings.

Mothers' Union

Ten members attended the Wave of Prayer on Thursday 27 th June in the chapel at St. Giles where we read Bible readings, lit candles and prayed for our diocesan links in Nigeria, Uganda and Australia and our own Diocese of Ripon and Leeds. Twenty three members, friends and five husbands enjoyed the MU Summer outing to Richmond on July 3rd. The weather was very kind and there was lots to do. Members could choose to visit the Green Howard's Museum, the Country Museum, the Castle, Millgate House garden, the Georgian Theatre or walk along the site of the old railway line as well as explore the cafes and shops. We had a tasty lunch at the Railway restaurant. Very many thanks to June and Joanne who spent a day there recceing the town and its attractions and for organising such a successful day out. A reminder that the Tea party on Wednesday 4th September will be at Gill and Nick Pinches house, 83 Leeds Road at 2pm.

The Word

The Word meets on 1st and 15th August this month.

It is informal worship, biblebased discussion and prayer, meeting twice a month on a Thursday in each others' homes at 7.30pm. We are a friendly group who start the meeting with refreshments, and would like to welcome you to join us for fellowship. Open to anyone! Krystyna Novak

Women's Fellowship

informative, relaxed

There are no meetings this month but to make up for the holiday we start off in September with two evenings arranged. The first one is on Tuesday, 10th September at 8pm when Pat Osbourne will talk about Lady Randolph Churchill. The following week we are having another Complete Clothing Fashion Show in aid of the Yorkshire Air Ambulance. This will be on Wednesday, September 18th at 7pm. Admission will be £3.

Last month over 50 members and guests sat down to a lovely Summer Supper catered for us by Maureen Clancey. What a change the weather was from last year when we almost had to paddle to the Church hall! Have an enjoyable summer and see you all in September

Walking Club News

August and the continuing summer (hopefully!) will give us the opportunity for two walks for the group, the Walking Talking Group on August 8th and the Pub Walking Group on the 22nd. Meet for both groups in the church car park in time for a 9.30 a.m. start on the appropriate days.

The Kitchen

Approval for the 'go-ahead' to refurbish the kitchen with stainless steel furniture has been given by the PCC. We have now removed all the equipment and stored it for re-use where appropriate and plans are in place to strip the whole room ready for rewiring, cladding of walls and re-fitting. Completion is planned for the end of August. Arrangements have been put in place for the provision of coffee after the 9.30am services on Sundays during July and August and there will be no washing up!

We certainly feel very lucky to be able to do this work which has been funded by your generosity. Our fund raising will continue in the meantime but we didn't want another year to pass before commencing the work.

Cream Tea Garden Party

Thank you to everyone who supported Headingley Rotary Club in raising money for setting up Leeds Foodbanks and supporting St Peter's C of E School in Burmantofts.

We had a lovely day, blessed by the weather and managed to raise the magnificent sum of £1200.

I understand that plans are afoot by our Methodist friends in the village to have a special collection weekend in the village for Foodbanks so watch this space!

Action for Mission

Our very own Vicar, Rev Janice Smith was invited to give a presentation to an Archdeaconry meeting in July and as one who attended the meeting, I can confirm that she did a magnificent job. She described how 'Mission' has been accomplished here at St Giles and showed a series of photographs depicting our activities.

It was brought home to me the enormous amount of Mission that has been achieved here at St Giles and it is still going on. It demands a great deal from all of us, not only Janice, who regularly keeps in touch

Circle Dancing

Last Tuesday it was warm and sunny, so we had an evening at the seaside i.e. in our imaginations! Every dance had a connection with the sea, and we swam and rocked on the waves and became dolphins and seals and even seaweed. This dance imitates the movements of seaweed in a rock pool as the tide comes in, and we listened to the poem written to describe the dance.

Beneath the feet is slippery. Green Mostly, but also brown and purple, red;
And look – see – there a starfish clings –
Not climbs – clings to one slow undulating frond.
The silent movement of the ebbing tide
Remakes the pattern of the fronds –
A green kaleidoscope in lazy, ceaseless motion.
The sun strikes some, lighting green with yellow,
Rock shadows dull other segments black,
While jellyfish add their touch of orange, purple-blue
And fascinated, we watch as time stands still.

Some days are given us to step aside from life, Release our eyes and ears from noise and bustle, Share sunlight and blue skies, cool water, Drink in the lack of urgency, and release Our spirits to rejoice in sharing joy.

We certainly did share lots of joy, and had a great deal of fun. Lovely!!

Looking Forward to Harvest

This year our Harvest Weekend will be a weekend full of activities.....and a bit of a change.

We are going to have an Open Church on Saturday afternoon 28th September when everyone will be invited to come and view the decorated church and stay for afternoon tea with a 'harvest theme'.

On Sunday 29th September all the congregation will have special harvest invitations to invite a friend or neighbour to 'Come to Church for Harvest' and this will be followed by the 'BIG Harvest Lunch', a three course Sunday lunch in the hall to christen our new kitchen! There will, of course be games for the children, a quiz for the academics and a raffle. Our St David's Dav lunch was such a success and crossed all generations, so we are hoping this will be just as good if not better!

Tickets (£7.50) for the lunch will be on sale soon so don't miss your chance of joining in the fellowship and praising God for all His harvest.

Gill & Mary will also be asking for volunteers to help and have already got the list printed ready for signing! Please don't give them a wide berth, the more people that help the more fun it will be.

....and from our friendly farmer

So Harvest Festival time has come round again. We could call it a festival of tins and flowers.

Whilst on farms times have changed too. The odd sheaf of corn, the same as Ruth and Naomi made, is no more. The giant combines go in to cut the crop, spew out the straw and chaff, taking the grain into its tank and into store. Very little labour is needed now on farms. Even a machine automatically milks the cows when they want to be milked. Young people do not view farming as a career so perhaps it's as well.

But look in the supermarkets. Everything has been produced by a farmer somewhere. From Olive oil to porridge oats, burgers to lamb cutlets and fishermen are farmers of the sea.

A farmer's job is 24/7 with its joys and disappointments. Lambs are born, yet some die, we have snow, floods, gales, droughts etc and although life is easier than it was, we still have to rely on the weather whether it be kind or not.

Here is a favourite poem of mine:

The farmer stood at the gates of Heaven

His face all weathered and old

And humbly asked St Peter for admission to the fold.

"What have you done old man" he asked

"To seek admission here?" "I've been a farmer Sir," he said

"For many a many a year."

The pearly gates swung open wide

St Peter pressed the bell "Come in, come in old man" he said

"You've had your share of hell!"

We must still be thankful for all our food and hope that the world can produce the food needed for the growing population. As Mark Twain said "they are not making any more land."

Yorkshire Day

There was a Yorkshire farmer who went into a jewelers shop in Harrogate, apparently still chewing after his dinner.

'Can I help you' said the nice young lady. 'Aye', he said, still chewing, 'Ahd like one o them rings'. 'Wedding or engagement rings, Sir', said the nice young lady. 'Wedding' he answered, still chewing. 'Gold or silver?' 'Gold, lass,' he said. '18 carats, Sir?' 'Nay lass, it's nobbut a bit of toffee 'ats stuck on me teeth.'

Well, just a bit of fun for the day!

Yorkshire Day has its origins in the break-up of the former Ridings at the time of the local government reorganisation in 1972/4. We don't know of another county that has a 'day', and the date that was eventually established, the 1 August, marks the day in 1759 when Yorkshire soldiers fighting at the battle of Minden, donned white roses in memory of their fallen comrades. They put white roses in their caps because, of course, the White Rose was the symbol of the House of York, chosen by the Duke of York and the red rose by the Duke of Lancaster way back in 1340. Nothing really to do with the struggle for the English crown between the House of York and the House of Lancaster. The current rivalry between Lancashire and Yorkshire seems to date only from the beginnings of county cricket in the late nineteenth century.

That does not mean to say that Yorkshire patriotism is a recent thing. Far from it. Unlike many other counties. Yorkshire forms a natural province. Bounded to the west by the sparsely populated Pennines, and to the east by the North Sea. It was bounded to the north by the Tees estuary and to the south by the Humber. The Humber estuary historically merges in the west into the Humberhead levels - marshy ground that limited northsouth communication to a narrow corridor followed by the old Great North Road. Similarly in the north, the Cleveland Hills leave only a few miles between Guisborough and Richmond before you reach the Pennine Dales.

So it's not surprising that this huge county – the County of Broad Acres – should very early on develop very much a life of its own and there are lots of examples from the late Middle Ages of the distinctiveness of Yorkshire men and Yorkshire wit – usually pejorative. Yorkshiremen were often seen as arrogant – often referred to as 'brussen', and the joke still runs, 'You can tell a Yorkshireman.....but vou can't tell him much!' Does all this matter today? Well maybe it does. We're constantly told that we live in a global society. We have only to look at the streets in our big cities and see people from all over the world. We've been encouraged to think multi-culturally, to learn about the cultures brought to us from overseas. There's much to celebrate in our common humanity.....let's not ignore our own roots, our own heritage, what the French refer to as Patrimony. Our lives, and the lives of those who come among us, are made richer as we celebrate not just globalisms, but localisms. Be proud to be a Yorkshireman and celebrate on this day the White Rose County.

Extracts from a speech made by David Kirby (Our thoroughbred Yorkshireman!)

was brought up doing stock-taking. In my parents village store we did it annually. Well, nearly.

So the idea of checking off the church inventory has been quite comforting. Especially when everything got a tick as being present. Well, nearly.

It was when we started counting the Hymn Books and Prayer Books. "Oh there's another one here!" was a frequent exclamation.

Nevertheless it is now done and in the process of being digitalised. How interesting to read that 30 years ago (p33) a lot of items were generously given in memory of loved ones - these we have catalogued for future generations and hopefully soon will be listed on our website for family history researchers.

Then there was the kitchen to clear and we made a start on the store cupboard. Oh I do like going to the tip! And they also have a 're-use' container now so that useful items are recycled!

A look back in time at previous St Giles Reviews

Relevant to today's debate on same sex marriage, the magazine of 30 years ago outlined the Synod's discussion on "Marriage". In particular it highlighted the remarriage of divorcees. Raymond quoted the surprising fact that even in 1983, 33% of first marriages ended up in divorce as did 50% of second marriages, ves 50%. The committee had proposed that any divorcee whose original partner was still alive and who wished to be married in church could approach the priest but the Bishop would make the final decision.

Unification of churches was on the local agenda with a meeting between the Methodists and St Giles.

On the social front the Women's Fellowship had a very successful car treasure hunt in the Fewston area. It was fantastic fun but unfortunately would now be classed as to be dangerous by the health and safety folks.

Len Watkinson announced the new and exciting programme for the Men's Supper Club and Pat Simpson raised £161 for the Children's Society at her Strawberry Fayre.

Also in June, 57 Junior Fellowship and choir members had taken part in a sports day at Hilton Grange (now an area occupied by houses) in spite of less than ideal weather. Winners included Guy Wordsworth,
Paul and Katherine
Johnston, Andrew Buncall,
Victoria Walker, Alistair Ball and Julie Platt who if we remember correctly was the St Giles female equivalent of Usain Bolt!

In July Jean Jackson reported that 40 junior church and choir members had had a fun evening looking for country treasures, playing non stop cricket and eating lots of sausages.

The main feature was the acknowledgment of gifts donated to the church and which included;-

Silver and glass cruet from Ron and Edith Dodsworth

Compartmental bookshelves in the committee room in memory of the choir from Duncan Bradley

Choir notice boards made by Mark Mumby from Geoffrey and Anne Reeves

Chapel candle holders from Betty Warner in memory of Roy Warner

Alternative Altar Service Book from Philip and Margaret Gillson

Seasonal Book marks from Stuart Walmsley

Incumbent Board from David Westheim

Chapel Altar Service book from Derek and Mary Mumby in memory of George Mumby

Nancy Bundey was delighted to announce that a member of the congregation had donated a cooker for the kitchen so that the Wednesday lunch club would not have to turn any one away.
